ABOUT THIS PRODUCT

Hey there! I am so happy that you are here! Whether you are an experienced writing center aficionado or a newbie, I hope that you find this writing center setup helpful, easy-to-implement, and engaging for your students. Over the next few pages, you will find some different suggestions of use and the lowdown on what's included. If you have any questions, please reach out to me at erin@earlyelementaryresources.com. Have a wonderful day!

GET STARTED

Find an area in your classroom to use as a dedicated writing space for your students. If you'd like, create a bulletin board with the tools in this resource. I have included bulletin board letters and colorful activity posters that contain a writer's checklist for each activity. I highly recommend laminating these if possible, so you can use year after year! Any item that comes in color also comes in blackline - so choose which best suits your printing needs. You can easily make this center NO PREP - read on to find out how!

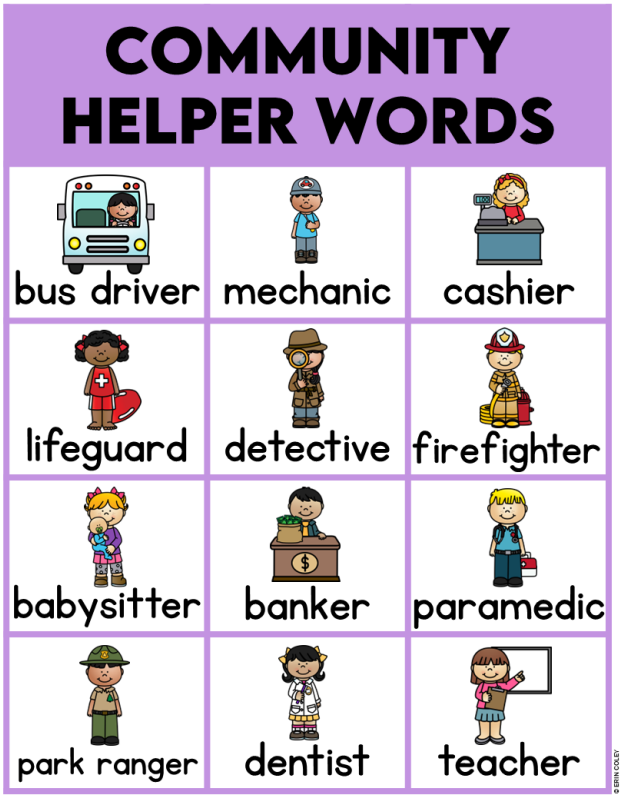
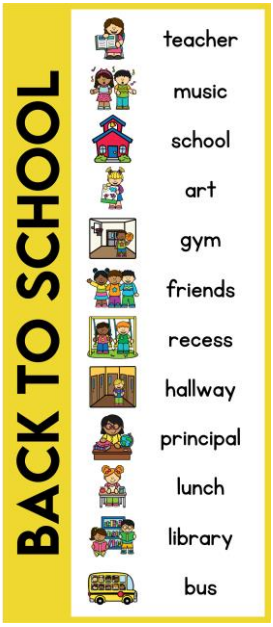
VOCABULARY

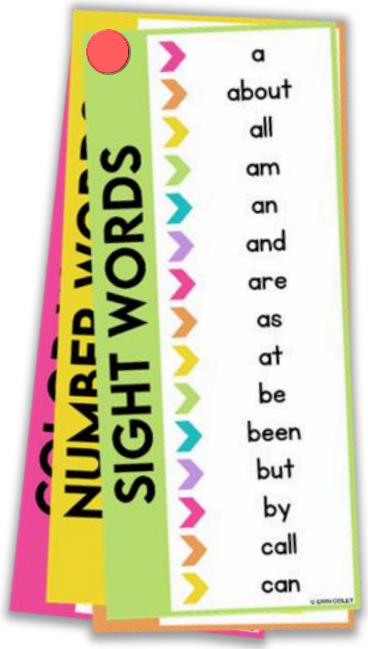


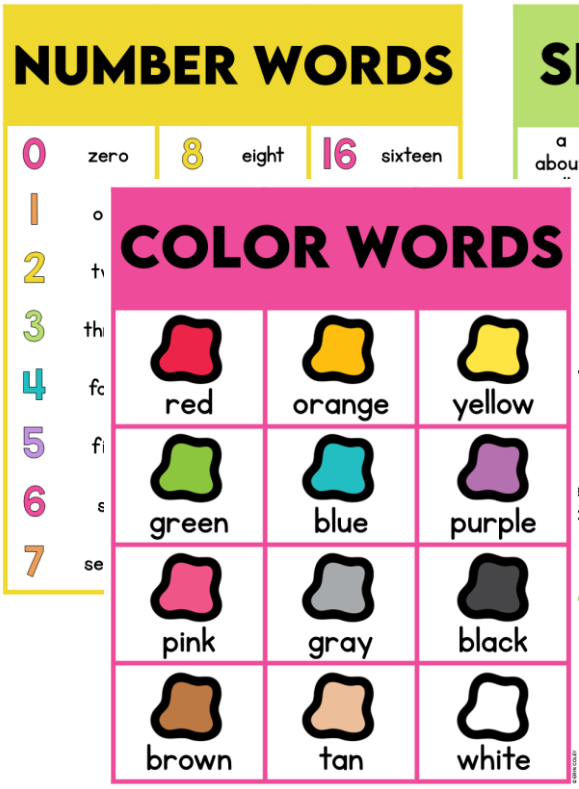


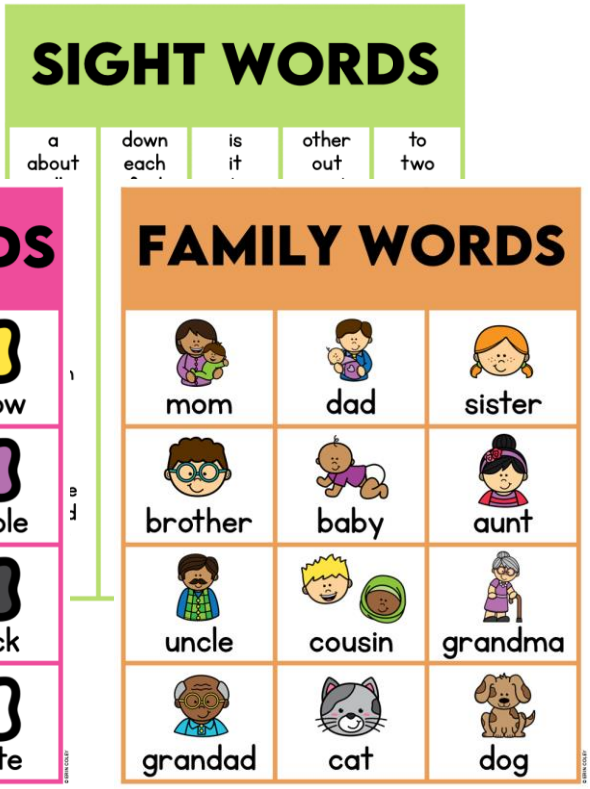
Since this set is the Back-to-School Freebie, you'll find 12 back to school themed vocabulary words included. There are three different ways that you can display the focus vocabulary in your writing center.

1. Display the full-page vocabulary poster by stapling, pinning, or taping it to your wall or bulletin board.
2. Hole punch the 1/3 page strip and place on a key ring with bonus tools (see next page!) and then hang from a command hook. Make a few of these so several students can use them at once!
3. Hang a string with 12 clothespins across your bulletin board or wall space. Cut out the 12 vocabulary cards and hang them from the clothespins. Changes them out each week with new vocabulary words.

BONUS TOOLS





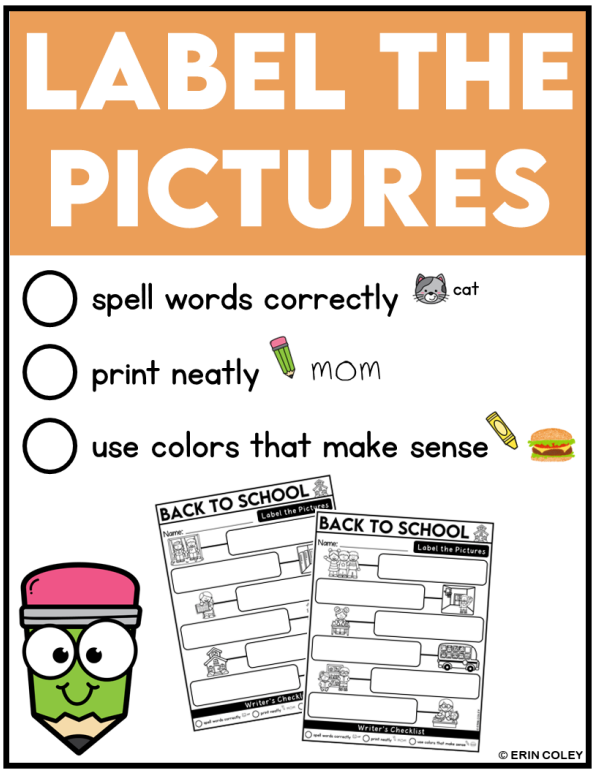


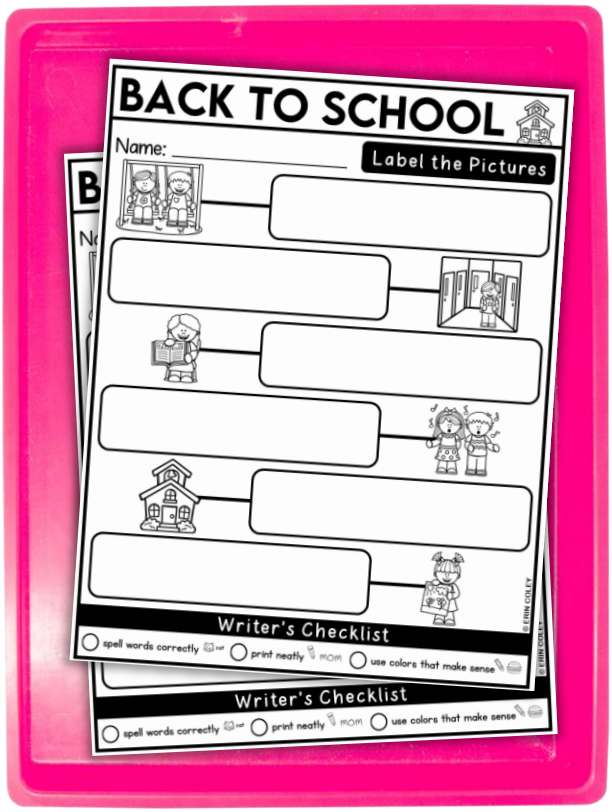
I have included a BONUS file which includes bulletin board letters as well as vocabulary resources for words students use often. These include posters of color words, number words, family words, and Fry's first 100 sight words. You can print and hang these as posters or hole punch the smaller version and place them on a keyring for students to easily use while they're writing.

CENTER #1

Students can make a list of vocabulary words and draw a picture to match. You'll find an option with primary handwriting lines and one with simple lines. You'll find a writer's checklist at the bottom of the page for students to refer back to.

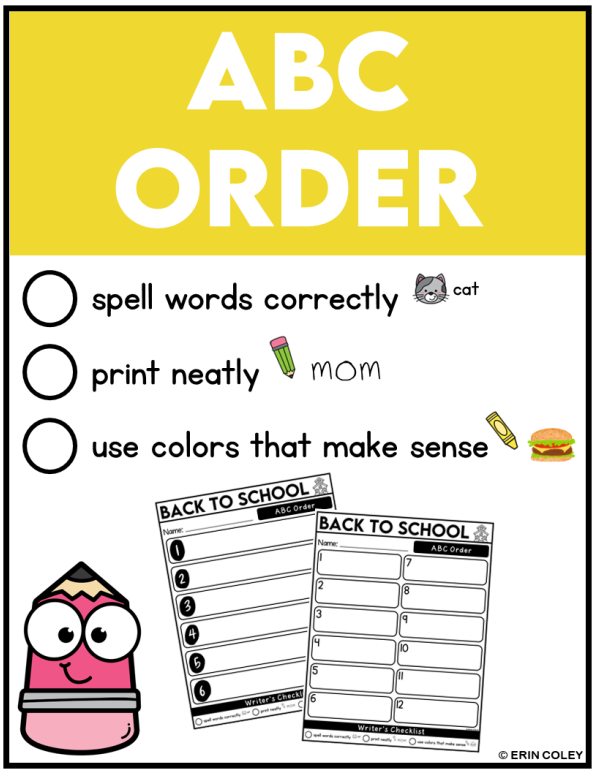
CENTER #2





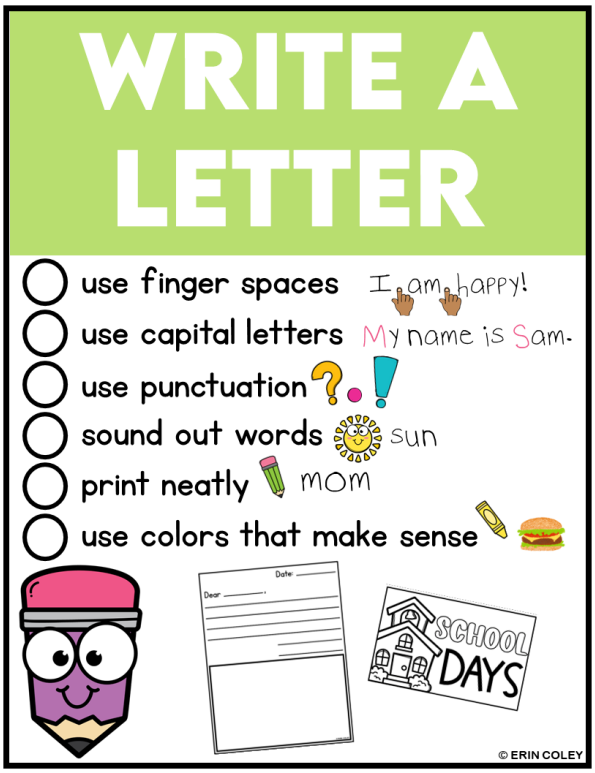
Students can label the pictures of the vocabulary words for the week. I have included two sets - each one has six images to label. You'll also find an option with primary handwriting lines and one with empty space, making it easy for you to differentiate among your students.

CENTER #3



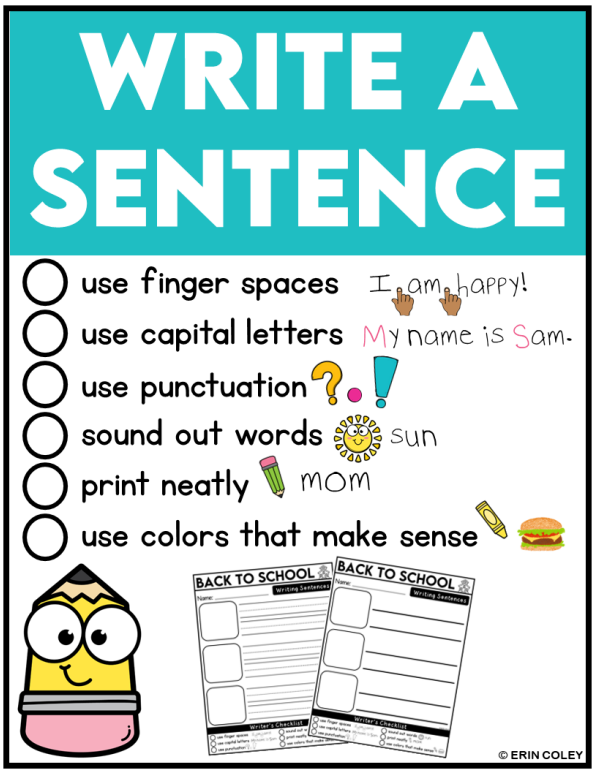
Students can put the vocabulary words in alphabetical order using the ABC Order worksheets. I have included 6 word and 12 word options for you to choose from. Each one comes with primary handwriting lines and without.

CENTER #4



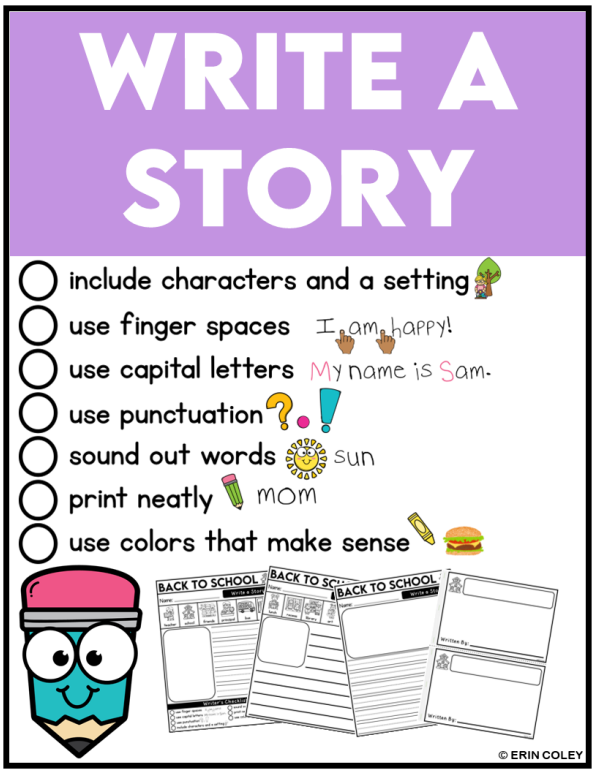
Students can make a card or write a letter with this letter writing center. You'll find a fun card for beginning writers and letter writing templates for students who need more of a challenge. I find that letter writing is one of students' most favorite activities!

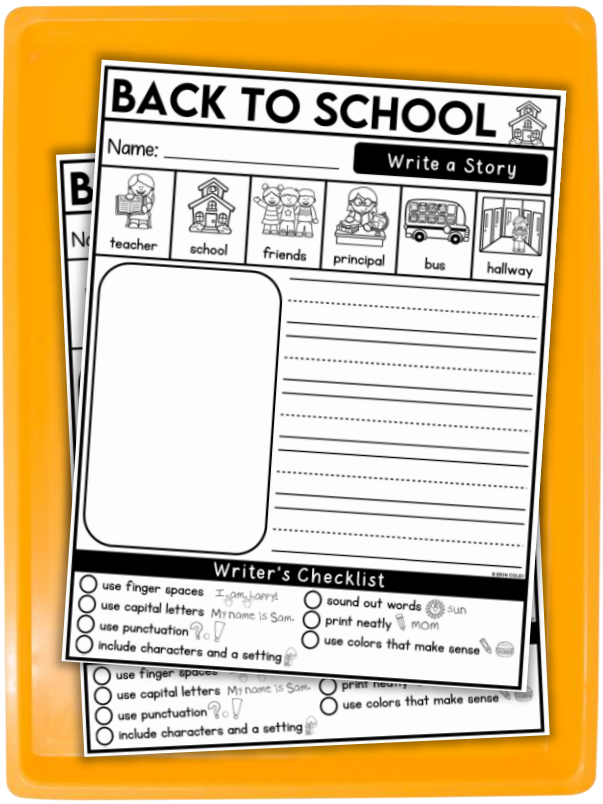
CENTER #5



Students can write sentences using their vocabulary words with this writing sentences center. Students will write three sentences and illustrate each one. There is an option with primary handwriting lines and one with simple lines to choose from.

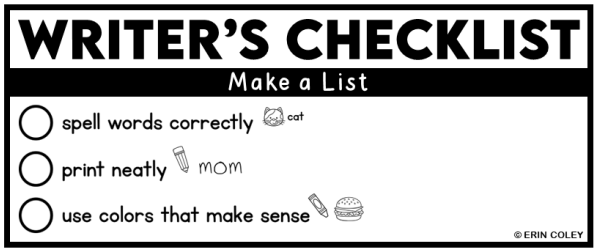
CENTER #6

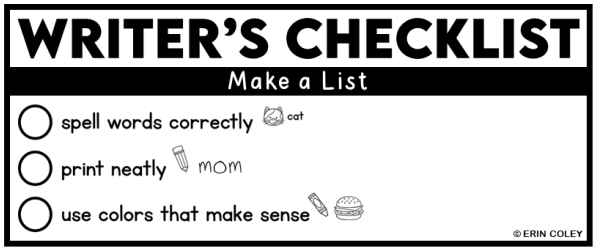


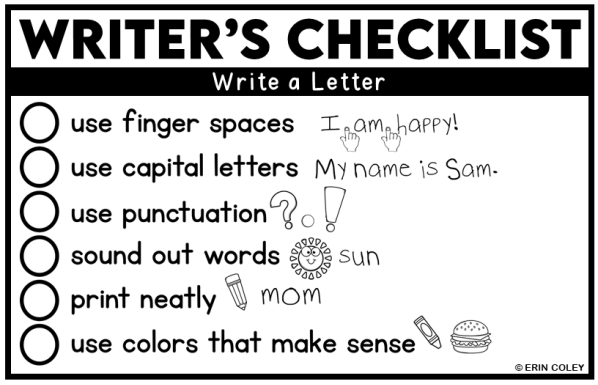


There are so many different options to choose from at the Write a Story center! I have included pages with vocabulary pictures and pages without. Additionally, you'll find a story sequence page, book making pages, and much more! Your students will love bringing their stories to life! Hot Tip: Do an Author's Chair Friday and let students share their stories!

WRITER'S CHECKLISTS

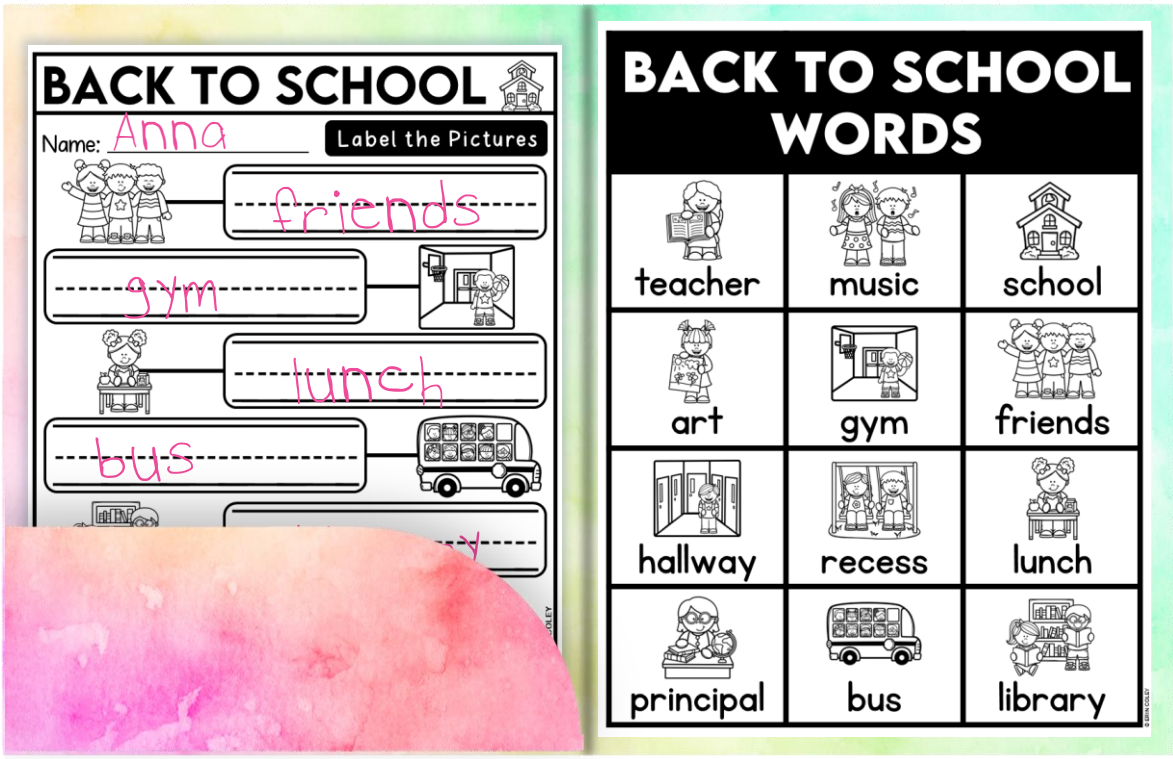






You'll find writer's checklists at the bottom of many of the student pages, but I have left some of them without. I have also included separate checklists that can be printed out and kept at your writing center, handed out to students, or kept in students' writing folders. You'll find separate checklists for each center activity.

NEED NO PREP?



Do you need a no prep version of this writing center? The easiest way to save time is to print out the word list poster in blackline and have students keep it in their writing folders (or have a general designated writing folder for your writing center!). Students can keep whatever writing assignment you assign in their folder as well for easy access!
