This intervention kit will be a game changer! The activities are predictable, so students will feel successful. ABOUT THIS PRODUCT

I CAN READ THE

sight word

© ERIN COLEY

Many districts require an “I Can” Statement displayed for your students throughout the classroom. You can use this poster to display the target sight word on a bulletin board or at your small group table. An editable template has also been included so that you can type directly onto the poster and print! 😊

ABOUT THIS PRODUCT

Start off your lesson by introducing the focus sight word. Complete the “Read It, Trace It, Write It, Highlight It” Activity. Do you have students who need a more tactile learning experience? Use playdough or letter tiles to create the words.

Students will have fun practicing their sight word recognition and fluency for each sight word as quickly as possible! For the Roadrunner Speed Read, I recommend students highlight the focus sight word on the first day. Review the words previously learned and go over any that students may still be struggling with. On the following days, students use this activity as a warm-up when they sit down for intervention. Practice timing students and let them beat their own time! For an added bit of fun, let students use pointers as they read.

ABOUT THIS PRODUCT

It is not enough for students to be able to recognize a sight word in isolation. They need to practice seeing the word in engaging texts. That is where sight word fluency passages come in. Please take a look at the next page to see my recommendations on implementing this activity, but please do what works best for your students!

On the first day, have students

- 1 highlight the focus sight word for that lesson in yellow.

Use a different color highlighter to highlight other known sight words or words that the student can decode independently.

Next, go back and review unknown words. Practice the text each day until students are fluent with each passage.

- 3

Note: Each week spirals over the last so students can review previously learned sight words. Additionally, you'll notice that the fluency passages become more difficult and have fewer picture clues as students progress throughout the program.

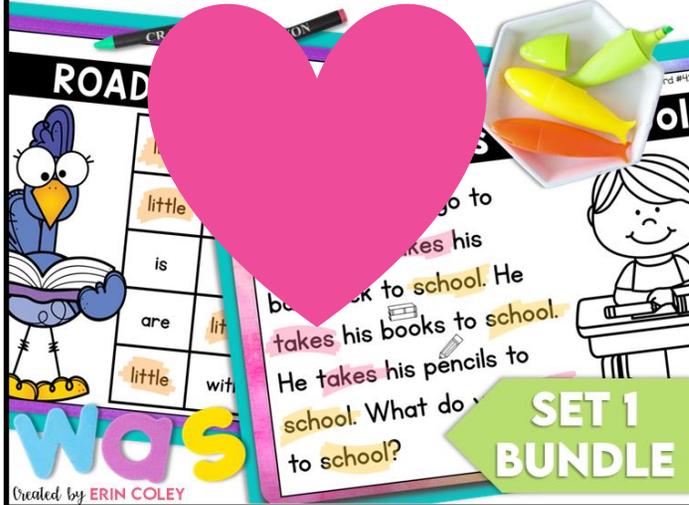

ABOUT THIS PRODUCT

Color and blackline copies are included for you. The color option is perfect if you want to laminate or use page protectors and use over and over each year. Blackline is best if you are concerned about ink and will be using them in classroom centers or small group and want to send the materials home with the student.
